Q. I'm curious about why so many actresses let their husbands be their managers even if they never had experience managing, like Susan Lucci and Ann Jillian, for example. Darlene B.
A. Maybe because they trust them.

Q. I was wondering if Michael J. Fox plans on doing a "Back to the Future IV", and if Sigourney Weaver would consider doing another "Alien" sequel. Yvonne C.

A. According to Fox, if there is another "Back to the Future" sequel, it will be without him. As for Weaver, she would consider another "Alien" flick if offered.

Q. How did Marlon Brando and Matthew Broderick get along during the filming of their hilariously funny movie, "The Freshman?" I ask because Brando seems like a really tough nut to crack on a personal level. Cedric L.
A. According to Broderick, "Marlon's my hero. It was like a dream, and he was very friendly — and very funny."

Q. How does Ann Miller remain so fresh and vibrant? I know that her dancing keeps her in great shape, but for 67 years old, she looks fabulous. What's her secret? Della M.
A. Ms Miller's book, "Tapping Into the Force," reveals her beauty secrets, gland serums at a Swiss clinic.

Q. I read that Demi Moore bet friends that she'll get an Oscar for her work in "Ghost," and that she'd accept even if meant breaking up her marriage to (Bruce) Willis because he'd resent it. Al R.
A. I'd say we don't have to worry about that possibility for some time. While "Ghost" is a good movie, and Demi does a good job in it, Bruce is not likely to have to compete with Oscar, at least not this year.

Q. Why does Johnny Carson hang on? He has enough money. Let him quit and make Jay Leno permanent host of the Tonight Show. Jill K.
A. Why should Johnny quit if he enjoys coming to work? That's the answer.

THE CHOPPING BLOCK

by Philomena Corradeno

KIWIFRUIT-PEACH SHORTCAKE

Would you ignore that funny, fuzzy, brown-skinned fruit if you knew that under that strange skin is a vibrant green, uniquely flavored flesh rich in potassium and vitamins C and E? To me, it tastes like a blend of banana, honeydew and pineapple. It started life as the Chinese gooseberry, and earlier this century, it made its way to New Zealand where its name became "kiwifruit." In other parts of the world, it's known simply as kiwi.

Outside of New Zealand, kiwi has been decorating main dishes, salads, appetizers and desserts for a couple of decades. But New Zealanders know better — they don't cast kiwifruit in the garnish role. They recognize its versatility and use it in stews and casseroles; they coarsely chop it and use it instead of tomato for a salsa with mint instead of cilantro. Or they mash it and blend it with mint, garlic, ginger root, soy sauce and sugar to serve with lamb.

Here's a timely dessert: Kiwifruit-Peach Shortcake. Following that is a mint sauce for roast of lamb, which was created by Jan Billion for her reverse "New Zealand Kiwifruit Cookbook."

Needed: Three-day supply of pre-folded cloth diapers; diaper liners (found where disposables are sold); bleach; gentle laundry detergent.

Use two diapers and one diaper liner for each change to aid in clean-up and to keep baby's skin dry.

Place wet diapers in empty diaper pail (no need to add water). Soak rinsed soiled diapers in bucket of plain water (Rinse thoroughly and soil down toilet.)

When ready to wash, dump all diaper in washer as is. Add water to cover, and spin dry. Add hot water, bleach and laundry detergent as needed and wash once, rinse twice. Dry as usual.

Have a dry, happy and rash-free baby, save loads of money, and help save our environment by washing your own cloth diapers. It's easy! June P., Lake Zurich, Ill.

1¼ cups flour
5 tablespoons sugar,divided
4 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup butter
½ cup whipping cream, for shortcake
1 egg
8 New Zealand kiwifruit, sliced
1 large fresh peach, sliced
2 cups whipping cream, for topping
2 tablespoons orange liqueur (optional)

Combine flour, one tablespoon sugar, the baking powder and salt. Cut butter into the dry ingredients until it is the size of small peas. Beat ½ cup cream with the egg; pour liquid into dry ingredients and combine with a few swift strokes. Turn out on floured board and knead 10 times until smooth. Pat into seven-inch square. Cut into eight triangles. Place on baking sheet and bake in center of 450F. oven for eight to 10 minutes, or until lightly browned. Whip two cups cream with remaining four tablespoons sugar and orange liqueur to get soft peaks. To assemble, split shortcake triangles. Top each with whipped cream, kiwifruit and peach slices. Place remaining shortcake halves over, and top with dollop of cream and additional fruit. Makes eight servings.

LAMB WITH EMERALD MINT SAUCE

1 leg of lamb (about 4 pounds)
½ cup red currant jelly, warmed
3 or 4 kiwifruit
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon sugar
8 tablespoons finely chopped fresh mint

Place lamb, fat side up, on a rack in roasting pan. Bake in 325F. oven 25 to 30 minutes per pound for medium, 30 to 35 minutes per pound for well done. Brush frequently with warm red currant jelly. Yield: six to eight servings.

Peel fruit and mash well, or place in food processor or blender until just pureed. Don't overprocess. Stir in lemon juice, sugar and mint. Serve with hot or cold lamb. Makes about one cup.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

by Charles King Cooper

Q. I'm a Susan Anton fan, and always thought Sylvester Stallone missed out on a great chance to be with a great lady when he broke up with her. Can you tell me what Susan's been doing since she made her last exercise video? Thanks. Bonnie C.
A. Well, for one thing, the statuesque beauty obviously practices what she preaches in her exercise video. She looks great, and her looking great is her new nightclub act, which has been wowing audiences in Las Vegas, Atlantic City, and Lake Tahoe. Next month, she takes her act to the Big Apple where she'll be performing in the chic Rainbow & Stars winery in Rockefeller Center. Between nightclub appearances, Susan gets in some TV guest shots and is up for a new film.

Q. Now that Bruce Willis is getting all this good press, doesn't anyone remember when he was less than amiable while doing "Moonlighting" with Cybill Shepherd? How come these guys get the whitewash treatment just because they turn up with a hit show? A. Cybill Fan
A. Come on, let's be fair. People cluker to the scene said that neither star was exactly in the pussycat category. By the same token, insiders insist that neither was quite the "bitch" or bounder she or he was made out to be. However, one director reportedly said when asked which he preferred working with on the TV-er: "It depends on how they feel about the script, each other, and anything on the day. Whenever we finished a segment, I'd say to myself, thank goodness I'm not married to either one of them." And speaking of being married to one of them, the next question about Demi Moore (Bruce's wife) is an interesting one.

Q. I read that Demi Moore bet friends that she'll get an Oscar for her work in "Ghost," and that she'd accept even if meant breaking up her marriage to (Bruce) Willis because he'd resent it. Al R.
A. I'd say we don't have to worry about that possibility for some time. While "Ghost" is a good movie, and Demi does a good job in it, Bruce is not likely to have to compete with Oscar, at least not this year.

Q. Why does Johnny Carson hang on? He has enough money. Let him quit and make Jay Leno permanent host of the Tonight Show. Jill K.
A. Why should Johnny quit if he enjoys coming to work? That's the answer.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Mix-ups in communications could easily occur. Over-optimism and impulsiveness work against sound judgment. Don't make important decisions for now. It's probably not the best time to get true value for money spent. Be careful of biggest mouths when shopping. Small disputes could also arise now.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) There's just enough of those little things going wrong now to feel that you're not in the driver's seat. Don't let minor frustrations disturb your ego. Mood shifts are likely with the result that you spend a good part of the day coping with them. Don't make mountains out of molehills. Keep a tight rein on sensibilities.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Your pride's not hurt, but the lukewarm attitude of acquaintances gives you a "take it or leave it" view of socializing now. Avoid those who waste your time. It's hard to get things cooking in your career now. Business and friendship don't mix as well as they should. Some are evasive and not ready for commitment.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) You may not be pleased with the advice you receive now. Nothing goes wrong, but you don't exactly draw up support for your enthusiasm. There are just too many loose ends dangling to be satisfied with a business proposition as is. What needs to be worked out probably won't occur now.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) It's difficult to get two heads to work as one now. Differences could occur about both investment and pleasure concerns. Nothing major however, is at stake. Either you feel others are meddling, or there are just too many interruptions and distractions to be totally pleased about work efforts.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) Mixing business and pleasure won't bring you the results you seek now. You need to keep your feet on the ground in the romance department. Watch self-indulgence. It's not the best time to have company over. Though there are no major domestic problems, family members seem to be involved with their separate interests.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Despite your ability to sell yourself now, you may not get the feedback you hope. However, in a still generous good will. Don't count on others' support for your ideas. You'll find some things you like when shopping. It's a poor time though for gaining financial backing or cooperation from others now.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) Though you find the right words to get across what you mean, you may be disappointed in a partner's response. Others aren't ready to go along with your wishes. You'll sneak in a few hours for yourself now, but work demands may be pressing and time consuming. Rest and relaxation may have to come another day.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) You're certainly a welcome addition at a social event, but you may be disappointed that a loved one is unable to join you there. You're not in a good mood. Though business mixes with pleasure, you may have to cut an engagement short due to pressing demands at home base. Responsibilities come first now.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) Business advice proves helpful. You'll meet those whose views differ from your own. Exercise tolerance. There may be a string attached to an invitation. Financial developments are mixed. Despite some light from advisers, you may be reluctant to go along with a business proposition.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) You may be the one to put the cold water on the flames of romance now. Others are affectionate but you may be withdrawn, self-involved or not interested. There seems to be some stumbling blocks in the way of an office romance. Despite some work grog now, you may to some way feel your efforts aren't appreciated.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) A romantic luncheon looks promising, but the cold-shoulder treatment you may receive from some acquaintances could bother you. Not everyone recognizes your worth. There is some happiness on the home front now, but work obligations could interfere with family plans. Others are likely to be disappointed.

Antiques and Collecting

by Ralph & Terry Kovel

IN THE FAMILY

Research shows that many women who were active in the arts in the past have been ignored. In fact, when a man died, the family silver or furniture business was often continued by a wife, children or other relatives. Famous wives include Hester Bateman, the silversmith, and Alice Hepplewhite, the cabinetmaker. Where Johann Lowitz of Austria died in 1848, his widow took over. The company was called "Gladdish" Johann Lowitz Witwe" which means "the glass factory of the widow of Johann Lowitz." It remained successful and, 29 years later, her grandson took over. The firm went out of business during World War II. Lowitz glass, especially the iridescent gold glass, has become very popular with collectors, and prices are rising.

Want to find out if you really know about antiques? Try this quiz: (1) Who is Jasper Ware? (2) Is a spelled bedgewood or Wedgwood? (3) What did the brothers Charles and Ray Eames do? (4) Describe a piece of furniture designed by Herman Miller? (5) When was the Governor Winthrop bureau first made? (6) What did Beinhold and Erdmann Schledgel mlich make?

This should really have been an April Fool question because it if filled with tricks. (1) Jasper is a type of stoneware, it was often blue. It was made by the Wedgwood company started by Josiah Wedgwood. (2) There is no "d" between the "g" and the "w" in the spelling of that famous company's name. Others have used the name spelled with a second "e," probably to confuse customers. (3) Charles and Ray Eames were husband and wife, not brothers. They designed many things in the mid-1900s including furniture for Herman Miller, Inc. (4) Herman Miller was a businessman and did not design any furniture. The firm named for him is still making modern furniture. (5) Governor Winthrop of Massachusetts was in office from 1629 to 1649. The desk named after him is a 1930s idea. (6) Reinhold Schledgel mlich made the bureau.

DEAR DIANE

by Diane Van Arsdale

DEAR DIANE:
I'm in desperate need of your help. I'm a 24-year-old married woman with a four-year-old child and a newborn baby. When I first came home with the baby, things were great — and they always were great — until recently. My husband has been going out Friday nights (to the place where he was brought up), and coming home Sundays. He has a lot of friends there he goes, and says friends where he used to drive home, but he's too drunk to drive home, but when he does finally show up, he's totally different with me, he's totally different with me, and he won't make love with me. I never really thought much about it until a few days ago when I heard rumors of him and another woman. Well, I confronted him, and he denies being unfaithful. Yet, he wants to separate. He won't tell me why. I love my husband very much. I don't know what I can do. He said he'd never divorce me either, and that he loves me. Could it be "woman does love me, and it will pass, or is mere" fever, and it will pass, or is he jealous of the baby? I'm confused. Please try to shed some light on this for me. I don't know what to do.
DESPERATE

DEAR DESPERATE:
I don't think you should say yes to a separation. I believe it would be a mistake. I believe it would be much more beneficial to your marriage for both of you to go to counseling. It sounds to me as if your husband is seeking a "vacation" from marriage and responsibility. He says he loves you and won't divorce you, yet he needs a "break." The feelings he's experiencing can be dealt with much more productively by a counselor. It could very well be that having a second baby put him in some kind of panic.

If he won't agree to go to counseling, you should go yourself to help you put things in perspective. Also, I think you should put your foot down and tell him no more weekends away. It's not fair to you and the children.

Should he push for a separation, don't do anything until you've seen a lawyer. His responsibilities should be clearly outlined and legal.

DEAR DEX

by Dexter Dyer

DEAR DEX:
This is my first time writing to an advice columnist, but I really need some help. I am 55 years old, and have been divorced from my husband for three years. However, I'm living with him at this time because of his bad health. I still care for him very deeply. Also, I have been in love with another man for four years, and have lived with him in the past. He has been a great help to me. I would like him to keep on caring for me. Whom should I choose?
UNSURE

DEAR UNSURE:
I'm afraid I really can't be of much help to you. This is a choice you're going to have to make on your own, I'm afraid. I will tell you that it is more than understandable that you still have feelings of responsibility and caring for your ex-husband. You must have been married a number of years, and habits that are so long standing are very hard to break. Naturally, there is still an attachment.

However, as far as the other man is concerned, if he fulfills your needs and is good to you, then you have your answer right there.

DEAR DEX:
My wife and I have been having an argument about a friend of ours. His girlfriend is his first cousin (and they're more than kissing cousins, if you know what I mean). My wife says it's illegal for them to marry, and I say it's okay. Who's right?
CURIOUS

DEAR CURIOUS:
I'm no lawyer, but I'm pretty sure that first cousins cannot marry, no matter where they live. They are considered as close as siblings, and as such, cannot marry and have children.
